

BANA MAYO GERMANY UPDATE

Bana Mayo in Germany had this year another overwhelming project to support a school with schools items and help the vulnerable children with school fees, books, bags, pencils, pens, school uniforms etc.

It's sad to see how even in the capital city of Zambia - Lusaka, children can still not afford to have a proper school uniform and shoes. To see these pictures makes us, even more want to help. The motivation we get is amazing because every member of our group contributes to the projects, brings in ideas and discussions.

I have to say we have more than enough work to do, and I know we will make it. The zeal is to make a change education is a key to a successful life, respect our challenges of helping our families back home, we have also sacrificed to reach out to others, what a joy indeed to work hand in hand with these hard-working women, Bana Mayo each day with you is a blessing.

Today we are about 16 women zealously working hard to help our needy children, women and families back home. Almost a year now, and happy to have already done more than four(4) projects successfully; in the long run, we have also gotten more information about how difficult life is back home. Being a diaspora, we have our challenges, but we still have food on the table, proper education, a roof and back home! Poor are more than happy with just a little—their children who sleep with empty stomachs and still have dreams. Let us more than ever work hand in hand and provide jobs, education and save a life.

Our team back home has been the best so far. These young men and women see the need to work and improve situations back home, and we are very honoured to work with them. And we will continue to receive kind assistance from them, we treasure the work they do for us, and we are thankful.

With reality in mind, we have experienced that supporting these projects not only cost money but energy and time. We are giving back to what we once we're given. May we continue to give our best, and may we wholeheartedly support the organization, and we thank and ask God for his blessings and guidance.
